The Transportation Safety Board will be our keynote luncheon speaker on Thursday, November 3rd. You won’t want to miss his comments on the NTSB and future of aviation litigation.

The program offers legal updates for the most seasoned litigator and practical tips for both high-level attorneys and their law students. The program includes topics in aviation litigation and insurance. This year’s program, held in the newly renovated Ritz Carlton, Washington D.C. for two days of CLE on the hottest topics in aviation litigation and insurance, which include:

- Legal and insurance professionals, which include:
  - • Litigation advocacy has become a critical skill set for aviation litigators. This panel will examine ethical hypotheticals in an aviation case from intake through to presentation at trial. A stellar panel of attorneys from both sides of the playing field will present opposing views from experienced Defense and Plaintiffs’ counsel on the rapidly evolving regulations for Unmanned and Autonomous Vehicles, and the mine field of legal and regulatory challenges that must be navigated during the course of litigating the military aviation accident.
  - • Recent Developments in Aviation and Space Law
  - • Emerging Communication Strategies and Demonstrative Ethics
  - • Recent Developments in Personal Jurisdiction
  - • Recent Developments in Aviation and Space Law
  - • Federal Preemption For FAA-Certified Products Post-James Robinson, General Counsel, Dassault Falcon Jet, Washington, DC
